

CONTENTS

Acknowledgements	ix
Introduction	I
PIERPAOLO ANTONELLO AND ALAN O'LEARY
PART I: NARRATIVE MODELS OF POLITICAL VIOLENCE
1 Killing the Father: Politics and Intellectuals, Utopia and Disillusion	16
ANTONIO TRICOMI
2 Narratives of Sacrifice: Pasolini and Moro	30
PIERPAOLO ANTONELLO
3 Moro, Brescia, Conspiracy: The Paranoid Style in Italian Cinema	48
ALAN O'LEARY
4 Through the Lens of Trauma: The Figure of the Female Terrorist in Il prigioniero and Buongiorno, notte	63
RUTH GLYNN
PART II: GENRES OF TERROR
5 Television and Terrorism in Italy: Sergio Zavoli's La notte della Repubblica	77
ISABELLA PEZZINI
6 Screening Terror: Political Terrorism in Italian Cinema	88
GIANCARLO LOMBARDI
7 Lo Stupro by Franca Rame: Political Violence and Political Theatre	101
LUCIANA D'ARCANGELI
PART III: THE RHETORIC OF VIOLENCE
8 The Rule of Which Law? The Use of Legal Language and the Rhetoric of the anni di piombo	116
ELEANOR SPAVENTA
9 A (Conceptual) History of Violence: The Case of the Italian Extreme Left in the 1970s	127
LISA GERUSA
10 Narrative Models of Political Violence: Vicarious Experience and 'Violentization' in 1970s Italy	138
FRANCESCO CAVIGLIA AND LEONARDO CECCHINI
PART IV: THE MEMORY OF EVENTS
11 Contested Memories: Milan and Piazza Fontana	152
JOHN FOOT

12	Memorialization without Memory: The Case of Aldo Moro	167
	DAVID MOSS
13	Political Violence, stragismo and 'Civil War': An Analysis of the Self-Narratives of Three Neofascist Protagonists	182
	ANNA CENTO BULL
14	Self-narratives of the anni di piombo : Testimonies of the Political Exiles in France	199
	RACHELE TARDI
	Index	221